DNS makes a difference

MILLBURY - Orrie Coombs smiles at her District Nursing Society (DNS) Registered Nurse, Rebecca McBride, as she enters the room. Orrie is tall, very slender and is wearing her long gray hair in a single braid down her back. The nurse helps her dress and assists her to the scale to be weighed. Orrie sits down at a small table at the end of her room. Her nurse asks her questions by printing them in large letters on a tablet. Orrie carefully reads them through thick glasses. She is faced with the double challenge of poor vision and serious hearing loss.

bags sewn by Orrie from scrap fabric. Orrie also likes to color in her "Little Engine That Could" coloring book brought to her by her Home Health Aide.

For 57 years, Orrie Coombs chose to live within the four walls of her upstairs room, cared for by her sisters, Maria and Ruth. With the encouragement and guidance of her nurse, Orrie decided to move downstairs and accept the help of Nash, whom Orrie calls, "The bath lady."

Orrie smiles shyly at the nurse when asked if there is anything she would like to tell her. This sweet, timid lady tells her, in barely audible soft tones, of a time years ago when she was in school standing by the blackboard doing an arithmetic problem. The school

MILLBURY - Friends and well-wishers dropped by the Town Hall on May 21 to extend their congratulations and best wishes to Marie Colacchio who retired as Tax Collector after serving in that position for seven years. She has been employed by the Town for over 25 years. Always a lady, always wearing a smile, Marie will be missed by her colleagues as well as by the many townspeople who had occasion to stop by her office.

Just Ducky!

MILLBURY - According to information supplied by the Millbury Police Department, Norman and Debra Lussier of Sycamore Street were on their evening walk on Saturday, May 15, when they watched a mother duck and her ducklings cross the road on the bridge next to the VFW Post on South Main Street. As the ducklings passed over a sewer grate, four of them dropped into the sewer. The Lussiers, and a crowd of neighbors that had gathered, could see the ducklings about two feet down below where they had landed. The mother and her remaining four to six offspring headed off into the woods near the river when the crowd started to gather.

Highway Surveyor Joe Chase was called into action by Millbury Police Office Richard O'Brien. Chase, in turn, authorized Highway Department worker Joe Kosiba Jr. to go to the rescue with the proper equipment to remove the cover.

With the cover removed, Mr. Lussier was able to reach down and retrieve three of the four ducklings. The fourth decided to exit into the drainage pipe that delivered it into the river.

Mrs. Lussier placed the three ducklings into a small cardboard box to bring them back to their mother. When the mother could not be found, O'Brien, who was assisted by Officer Donald DeSorcy, decided to transport the ducklings to the river bank next to Goretti's Supermarket, which, O'Brien said, has become "somewhat of a bird sanctuary."

O'Brien transported Mr. and Mrs. Lussier in the cruiser to the riverbank where Mrs. Lussier opened the box; the ducklings quickly ran to the river.

"Last we saw," said O'Brien, "they were frantically going from one adult duck to another. No doubt Mom and ducklings will reunite quickly."

Amorello secures funds for safety improvements to Route 20/Massasoit Rd. Intersection

BOSTON - State Senator matthew J. Amorello (R-Grafton) met with state Highway Commissioner Laurinda Bedingfield and District Highway Engineer Peter Donoghue recently to urge that the long overdue Route 20/Massasoit Road project be placed on a fast track.

"The Highway Department has informed me," Amorello said, "that extensive upgrades to this dangerous stretch of road will be undertaken during the next 18 months."

The $800,000 project will redesign the intersection to provide for a separate left-turn lane for traffic exiting Route 20. New traffic signals will be installed to promote a smooth flow of traffic, including a left-turn light cycle.

"Vehicles seeking to make left turns off Route 20 will no longer have to block through traffic at this intersection," Amorello explained. "Drivers attempting to turn will now have a clearer path, which should dramatically reduce the number of accidents that have plagues this area over the years."

A public hearing on the intersection redesign project will be held later this summer. The project is slated to go out for bids by the end of this year, and construction is targeted for completion by the end of 1994.

Opportunity for growth

To the Editor:

I am writing to commend the Sutton School Committee on their recent action to support the search process for the Sutton Memorial Jr.-Sr. High School Principal's position. The Screening Committee has done an admirable job, and in the beginning of June, our community will have the privilege of attending while the finalists are interviewed.

This process gives Sutton the opportunity for valuable growth. Our school principals are among the most valued members of our community and, as we select a new one for the Jr.-Sr. High School, we have a responsibility to hear the candidates articulate their vision for the future.

As a community and as individual families, we must educate our children to take part in the ideas of the world while recognizing that our small size is a valuable asset. This process will help us to choose a new principal who has a vision for valuing both.

Retirements leave open positions

By Edward J. Cooney

MILLBURY - Following a moment of silence in memory of the late Maurice O'Brien Jr., Assistant District Attorney for Worcester County and former member of the Town Democratic Committee and School Committee, the Selectmen met May 18 with Highway Department Local 495 Union representatives Bob Ottman and Steve Couture.

The board agreed to sign the union contract that resulted from protracted negotiations between both parties, including an unfair labor charge by Local 495 which also represents municipal secretaries and clerks.

The agreement with the Highway Department employees is a three year contract that includes no raise this fiscal year, a 4% raise for FY '93-'94 and a 5% raise for FY '94-'95. The union and the Board also agreed to a settlement for health insurance rebates to be paid back to the town as a result of the protracted negotiations. The Union employees have not paid, as per the previous contract, any portion of their health insurance premiums since the end of August when the previous contract expired; the town has paid 100% of the premiums. The new contract provides for a payback whereby the town, during the next fiscal year, will pay 85% of employee health premiums rather than the 90%-10% ratio which will take effect the following fiscal year. The employees have agreed to pay 15% the next fiscal year rather than the normal 10%.

The union and the Board also agreed to provide an additional holiday to the highway employees - their birthday.

The vote by the Selectmen to sign and ratify the agreement came on a 4-0-1 vote with Gauthier abstaining as his brother is an employee at the transfer station and a member of Local 495.

The Board was to meet the next night with the Local 495 unit representing the municipal clerks to attempt to settle their differences in what has also been a protracted negotiation process. Administrative Assistant Earl Chase said an arbitration hearing at the state level scheduled for May 24 was put on hold pending the results of the meeting with the clerks. It is anticipated that if there is an agreement, the arbitration hearing will be dropped.

Community Assessment

Chase said there are 10 town departments involved in completing a community assessment form that is required before certain state grants can be pursued. He noted that the failure of any one of the departments to complete their portion of the form could jeopardize the chances of any department getting a grant.

Cristo suggested that the town seek the assistance of the Central Mass. Regional Planning Commission for technical assistance in the preparation of the form.

Animal Control

Chase reported that he and Selectman Gerald Bleau met with Charles Balmaitis who has submitted a proposal in response to an advertisement to handle complete animal control for the town. Millbury's Dog Officer does not handle cats or dead dogs or inspections of barns.

Bleau said one of the problems is that the town has no dog kennels.

Chase said Balmaitis suggested that his company, which has several vehicles and is contracted by several other communities, could do the work within the $21,500 budget of the dog officer. The animals would have to be transported to the Animal Rescue League in Holden which, according to Bleau, could be a problem since the dog's owners would have to go to Holden to pick up their dog.

Chase said the use of a local kennel could take care of that problem. The kennels he mentioned, which he said would require some rehabilitation, are located at the Boria property on Millbury Avenue. He said at one time the town was considering entering into an agreement with Boria for the use of those kennels.

Chase also said two individuals have submitted an interest in the position of Dog Officer: Bertie Royal and Denise Marsolais. Chase said Dog Officer George Royal, who has asked not to be reappointed, has offered a kennel trailer to the town to house dogs. The trailer does not have a heating unit but Chase said one could be installed.

Selectman Roland Lachance noted that documents over the past three years show a decrease in calls for the dog officer's services and in dog licensing fees and fines. He asked what could have accounted for the drop. There was no response to his question.

The Board opted to continue the discussion on this issue at the next meeting.

Millbury Amusements

Attorney Henry Lane, representing Millbury Amusements on Rte 20, was present to seek some assurances from the board that his client will be able to obtain licensing for additional video machines at the site in the near future. He said his client has received approval to double the size of the present main building which will also see an increased food service.

Cristo said he was not prepared to make any commitment tonight until he sees the specific proposal. He said a town by-law sets a maximum limit on video machines.

Chase read the bylaw: "The limit on the number of coin-operated amusement devices in a business shall not apply to any business establishment devoted primarily to providing 'family-type amusement' to the public and conducted on a site containing at least five (5) contiguous acres of area. For the purposes of this by-law, a business establishment providing 'family-type amusement' shall mean a business offering separate recreational facilities for children and adults and not serving any alcoholic beverages."

Lane said he wasn't sure of the exact number of additional machines that would be requested but said it could be somewhere in the neighborhood of 60-70.

The Board suggested that Lane return with more information and submit applications for the exact number of machines. Cristo said the Board needs to see the specifics and will check with the Police Chief on safety issues and the track record of the present operation.

No action or consensus on supporting the request was taken or stated by the Board.

Old Time Inn

The Board conducted a public hearing on the application of Donald Salois to expand facilities at the Old Time Inn on Canal Street to include cutting a door on the side of the present building to allow access to a proposed outside patio for patrons to drink and listen to soft music. Horseshoe pits would also be part of the expansion on an adjacent piece of property owned by Joseph and Joanne Salois who will lease the property to the Old Time Inn.

The board voted approval with the stipulation that the area be fenced in as submitted in the proposal by the applicant.

Selectman Donald Gauthier suggested some type of screening fence along the side that borders Windle Field since children will be using the Field.

Salois agreed to the suggestion.

Leslie Lane resident Syl Bourdeau asked if there are any laws related to outside drinking in close proximity to a playground.

Salois' attorney, Peter Keenan, replied, "Not that I am aware of."

No abutters were present to object to the proposal.

Investigation Committee

The Board addressed an agenda item related to the town meeting article of June 16, 1992 and a more recent article of the way?" Lilley asked.

"You read the article," Cristo answered. "That's my opinion. I am not going to argue with you all night about it."

The article, which was unanimously adopted at the June 16, 1992 Annual Town Meeting, reads as follows: To see if the Town will vote to appoint and direct the Board of Selectmen to act as a committee while retaining their authority under M.G.L. Ch. 41, sec. 23b pertaining to a complete investigation of all town departments involved in any way with the construction of Paul Revere Village to determine if all town by-laws and general laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts which apply were adhered to and to make recommendations deemed necessary to change town by-laws or the operations of any town department to avoid any future problems such as those that exist in Paul Revere Village and file a report at a special or annual town meeting upon the completion of their investigation and that the sum of $20,000 be transferred from the stabilization fund for the purpose of this motion."

Bourdeau noted that at the May 4th town meeting, he addressed article 53 and asked if everyone understood that they were being asked to vote to investigate Paul Revere only. "Not one member of the Board of Selectmen got up to say anything about sub-divisions or anything else," Bourdeau said. "Not one member of the Board got up to amend this article, nothing."

Bourdeau said the lack of comment led the voters to believe the selectmen would go along with the article as written.

"We didn't make the people believe anything because we didn't speak on the article," Cristo countered. "Don't accuse us of getting up and making people believe anything. It's been said on a weekly basis, it's been in the newspaper. I'm not going to argue it. The vote at the town meeting was taken. We know what the vote is. We know what we are going to do as a Board."

"Why haven't you taken any action (to amend the article)?" asked Bourdeau.

"Why would we amend the article when we don't have to," Cristo replied.

Bourdeau then said that if any portion of the $20,000 allocated by the town meeting is not spent on the Paul Revere investigation, "then I believe you are misappropriating funds. If the Town Meeting votes money like it does for articles and for every budget for a specific purpose," he said, "and now you are going to change that purpose and spend it for another purpose, that is misappropriation, I believe."

Cristo said he didn't think there would be a need to spend any money.

Bourdeau said there may be a need to hire a consultants when the time comes to make recommendations.

Grafton Street resident Arthur Moore said he was at the town meetings mentioned and it was his understanding that the articles dealt only with Paul Revere Village. "To study all the others can take away from Paul Revere," he said.

Cristo acknowledged that Paul Revere should be the focus, but said that other subdivisions should be included.

"The people want to know who fouled up at Paul Revere and how things got fouled up, up there," Moore said.

"We all would like to know and how to improve," Cristo replied. "I'm not trying to be obstinate. I'm not trying to be argumentative. I just want to do something that is in the best interest of the town. I don't want it being said as this investigation goes on, 'I think' or speculations. I want facts," he said. "I want a plan of attack on how to improve it."

Bourdeau said that before the committee is appointed, the volunteers should be told what they are going to do. "They may not want to get involved (in other investigations)."

Cristo agreed that the responsibilities would have to be spelled out.

Bourdeau said that at the very least, Paul Revere should be the starting point. "The study shouldn't be diverted away from Paul Revere," he said.

Grafton Street resident Bill Moore said that if there are to be changes coming out of all this they should not be too restrictive. He said developers cannot always be blamed, "as people look for good deals and they have to take some responsibility as well."

Lilley said one problem area is the lack of a full time building inspector. "They have to be there on the job when the contractor or developer is there," she said, "otherwise they (developers) won't wait for two or more weeks for them to show up. It costs them no money. That's how things get by."

Lilley suggested that the town look into sharing a full time building inspector with two or three other communities so day time inspections can be done when the developer is working. She noted that the Paul Revere Association has had problems with a building pulling away and has been asking Building Inspector Rene Morin to take a look at the building for several weeks now. Lilley said Morin has not responded to the request.

Bleau said the Board is concerned with "safeguarding its fiduciary responsibilities" and suggested that the investigation committee, though acting as a public body with public information, express its opinions in executive session.

Bourdeau questioned whether that could be done since it is public information.

Lilley said that since Paul Revere residents have been eliminated from the study committee it would seem likely that anyone from any other subdivision to be studied would also be eliminated.

Both Bleau and Cristo concurred that the committee should not do anything until the pending litigation against the town is over. Cristo said Town Counsel Giorgio feels the litigation against the town will be resolved by September.

Lilley told the Board that the appeal filed by the Paul Revere Association against the town has now been sent to the State Supreme Judicial Court.

Cristo asked Lilley if the Association is confident it can win at that level.

Lilley replied that the Association is confident its appeal will hold up since the defense put forth by the town's insurance counsel has been based largely on the Public Duty Law which would exempt the town and its agents from liability. "The Supreme Court is looking at setting that aside," she said, "which will allow the suit against the town to go forward in favor of the Association and hold the town liable."

Cristo said that sometime in August the Board will look at the establishment of the committee and see what happens in September. "Maybe we can get started sometime after Labor Day," he said.

Transfer Station

The Board met with Board of Health (BOH) member James Morin to discuss the operation of the transfer station and recycling. The other two board members, Tom Brown and newly-elected member Richard Boire, were not present.

Morin first explained that the notification of the retirement of Transfer Station employee Dick Gauthier came too late for an article to be placed on the town meeting warrant for funds to pay for the vacation time he is entitled to under contract. He also said the BOH has no money to pay for a person to operate the transfer station and the loader. "We need at least $1,343 to get through the rest of the year," he said. The position being vacated has to go before the union first.

Highway Surveyor Joe Chase has offered to help until the new fiscal year starts in July.

Morin said Joe Chase would be able to supply help three or four days per week, but on Saturdays the BOH will have to come up with someone to cover the station. The contract for next year calls for two people at the Transfer Station for safety reasons to operate the loader. "If no one inside wants the position then we can go outside," he said.

Cristo asked Morin if the BOH would consider turning over the daily operation of the Transfer Station to the Highway Surveyor. Morin said the BOH has not considered that proposal.

Earl Chase said he spoke with the Highway Surveyor who said he does not want to get involved in the operation of the transfer station.

Morin also reported that the BOH will be meeting with Wheelabrator on a recycling proposal for the town. He also said the BOH has sent out for bids on recycling to see what comes in for a cost proposal.

Morin said it is expected that the garbage bid will come in under the $26,000 voted at town meeting. The rubbish hauling bid runs out July 1 and that is also out to bid.

Open Positions

The Board met with Town Treasurer David Cofske who said he would take the appointment as acting Tax Collector for two months while the Board decides whether to spend the funds for a special election to fill the elected positions of tax collector and town clerk,

Improvements for Purgatory

BOSTON - The State's Department of Environmental Management (DEM) has agreed to allocate $8,924 in funds to make upgrades to the Purgatory Chasm park in Sutton.

Sen. Matthew Amorello said he has received word from DEM Commissioner Peter Webber that his agency will make money available for the agency's existing budget to pay for safety improvements at Purgatory Chasm. The funds will be used for landscaping and signage at the Chasm, as well as needed improvements to kiosks at the scenic park.

Last month, Rep. Richard Moore added an amendment to the state's supplemental budget to pay for improvements to the park. The supplements budget is currently awaiting action by a joint House-Senate conference committee.

"What today's announcement does is guarantee that the work at Purgatory Chasm will take place this year, even if the conferees in their wisdom decide to strike the House language," Amorello said. "This project will be moving forward and I applaud Commissioner Webber for his support of Purgatory Chasm and for the people of Sutton."

Kollios Office Hours

MILLBURY - Rep. Paul Kollios (D-Millbury) will hold June office hours in Millbury on Tuesday, June 8, 6-7 p.m. at the Town Hall. He will also be at the Millbury Senior Center on June 3. Anyone can meet with Kollios at his District office, 505 Washington Street, Auburn, by calling 832-9845 or (617) 722-2291 for an appointment.

Receives Nursing Home Award

WORCESTER - William Bedord, Advisory Board Member of the Providence House of Millbury, was honored in April with the "Community Link/Nursing Home Award" given annually by Living Is For the Elderly (LIFE), Massachusetts' only nursing home consumer organization.

As a volunteer member of the Advisory Board, Bedord serves as an advocate for quality care at Providence House and assists in community relations, fund raising and legislative advocacy. The announcement stated that Bedord "encouraged the formation of the Millbury Elder Care Network, to which Providence House belongs, and it was his idea to begin the nursing home's Advisory Board Community Relations Committee. He encourages employee and resident participation in a variety of internal and community outreach activities."

"Bill always has a new idea, a new approach, or a new contact," said Administrator Karen Koprowski, who nominated Bedord for the award. "Providence House of Millbury is truly fortunate to have such a committed, competent person who more importantly is a mover and doer as evidenced by more and more people in the Millbury community knowing who we are and what we do."

Pinned at nursing ceremony

MILLBURY - Mr. and Mrs. Dorrance Jones of Millbury have announced the pinning of their daughter Lisa Jones. The ceremony took place May 14. Jones is a graduate of Becker College and is employed full time as a Registered Nurse at Westborough State Hospital.

Soccer field use draws complaints

By Alec G. Belisle

SUTTON - Residents from the Mendon Road area, many of whose homes abut the Bowden Soccer Fields located on Central Turnpike, were present at the Selectmen's May 28 meeting to voice complaints about noise, the glare of lights and trespassers when the fields are in use. Their complaints were similar in substance to those which they brought to the selectmen last fall.

The Board of Selectmen, chairman Mary K. Connor, Wally Johnson, Dana Gravison, and Jim Gvazdauskas were present.

Anthony Martinello reminded the board that he and other residents of Mendon Road and Central Turnpike came before the board last fall to complain about the installation of high intensity sports lights at Bowden Field.

"We came here last Fall," Martinello said. "We complained about the Planning Board and the way they handled the approval of it (the lights); we complained about the glare from the lights; we complained about the inability to talk to the soccer officials; we complained about the noise from the field, and the increased use and the parking. Since that time, they have adjusted the lights down, but it hasn't helped that much because they're so efficient; it appears that they have rescheduled some of their games to another field because activity during the week has decreased. But the weekend is another matter; they're playing ten, twelve, thirteen hours a day. The parking on weekends is bad," Martinello said.

"We also have another problem," Martinello told the board. "Trespassing prior to this season has been a nuisance variety, chase the ball; this year the trespassing has taken on a whole different color." He alleged that his wife and Mendon Road resident Judy MacQueen have been taunted by trespassers and said they have documented the trespassing with photos.

"The attitude of the trespassers," said Mitchell MacQueen, "has gotten to the point where they are taunting my wife saying, 'We're trespassing; we're coming on to your yard.' They've also been calling my daughter's name out, 'Would you like to come out and play?'"

MacQueen said that on Saturday, May 1, the use of the field began at 8:20 AM, stopped at 1 PM, continued at 2:30 PM, and went on to 7:30 PM. He said his wife counted approximately 25 trespassers in his yard, most of whom, he said, used his woods as a bathroom.

MacQueen also produced pictures that he said show that the Soccer Club has cleared the land at his property line and dumped debris and litter on his property.

MacQueen said he began complaining to the Club on April 25 when he had numerous trespassers. He said during the weekends of April 28 and May 2, the Soccer Club was using the field for 20 hours a weekend. "That's a real intrusion into someone's life to go through that for the entire weekend," he said. "They play with the lights on Friday night, and then they play 'til six or seven o'clock on Saturday, then they start at twelve o'clock (Sunday)." He also said the Club has been doing some construction work before the games begin, which has also disturbed the neighbors. "They're using it the whole weekend, and it gets to be where you can't even enjoy your own property. You have trespassers coming in; one walked within 40' of my deck," he said.

MacQueen also said he should not be subject to the potential liability should one of the trespassers get hurt on his property. He asked that a limit be placed on the playing time. He said the Soccer Club originally told the Planning Board the lights would be limited to early spring and late fall to complete games that ran out of light. "Instead of having two games on Sunday," he said, "they now have three to four games."

MacQueen said that he sees construction of an eight foot stockade fence as the only solution to the problem "inasmuch as the soccer officials are unable to control the players." He added that the Soccer Club has put up "No Trespassing" signs only to have them removed by their own players.

Connor asked what the neighbors were seeking from the selectmen.

Kathy Martinello responded, "We, the taxpayers and property owners, are not having the peace and enjoyment of our property," she said. "It seems to be all one sided." She added that the neighbors are asking that the selectmen, or any other board that has authority over the use of the field, set policy on what can and what can not go on at the field.

Martinello went on to relate that one weekend there were five players looking for the ball and two others who, when she asked what they were doing on her property, responded, "We're just taking a walk, lady."

"It's the attitude, and it's blatant," she said.

Martinello said he witnessed some trespassers go on the MacQueen property yelling, "We're coming on to your property! Like are you going to do something about it?" He suggested that an eight foot high stockade fence on three sides of the soccer field be constructed to alleviate that problem.

Central Turnpike resident Jim Zimage said that while the Club has made an effort to redirect the lights, parking along Central Turnpike is "horrendous" because of the number and duration of the games. He said cars are parked directly under "No Parking" signs. "The problem is the number of games," he said. "There are so many games on both fields, one after another, that I don't believe there is sufficient parking and they have to park on the road. To me, that's a real dangerous situation. "The second thing," Zimage continued, "is because of the parking situation, there's no place to turn around and park in the road, so what do they do, they pull in our driveways."

Johnson said the residents should put down in writing what they are seeking in terms of remedy so the selectmen can proceed to mitigate the situation.

Anthony Martinello said he was not trying to stop anyone from playing soccer. He said it bothers him to be at odds with members of the Club. He also fears that his children will be chastised at school for his attempts to mitigate the problem.

Kathy Martinello said the neighbors are looking to prevent the 21 straight hours of play per weekend. She said they are looking for, "a limit of the total hours in a row. If they want to start at noon and go five hours in a row, that will give us some time to enjoy our property." She said, before the lights, the field was used for a few hours and there were not the problems that have developed since the addition of the lights and the increased use.

Recreation Commission member Phil Berube said he sympathizes with the residents. He also maintained that he has been ignored by the Soccer Club and been treated rudely by some members as well. He said that Recreation has similar problems down at Veteran's Field in Manchaug and asked that something be done to address the problems. He said the solution is to work out the problems within the organization but with some common courtesy.

In addition to these complaints, residents brought in pictures taken from their homes both inside and outside which showed the effects of the high intensity sport lights. Pictures showed the lights shining into their homes.

Ross Weaver, spokesman for the Sutton Soccer Club, addressed the accusations that were made. He said that the Club did cut down some pines along the edge of the Martinello and MacQueen properties and donated 10,000 board feet of pine to the town. A town vehicle and operator were used and paid for by the Club.

With respect to trespassing, Weaver said that Keith Kurowski, president of the Sutton Soccer Club, received a complaint from Mrs. Martinello, and they arranged to put up nets on April 26 to prevent soccer balls from going onto the Martinello property. He explained the work that he and Harry Hicks have done to correct some of the problems, including the placement of "No Trespassing" signs. He said he asked coaches to place three or four parents along the property line to prevent balls from going onto the abuttors' properties. Weaver said they have put up a six foot wire fence along part of the field and have scheduled to put in additional fencing along the MacQueen's property line.

Weaver said with respect to the issue of players using the abuttors' properties as bathrooms, he saw the pictures presented but could not tell what the players were doing. He said that last May 17, he was at a game when a ball was kicked into the Martinello property. He said a young lady went over the wall, traversed the area six times, found the ball and resumed play. Five to seven minutes later, he said, Sutton Police Officer Greenough came to him and said that he received a complaint that a young girl had relieved herself. He said there were witnesses that could verify that she was not using the property as a bathroom.

Weaver said that as a result of that incident, he wrote to Police Chief John Annis complaining that the incident had not occurred. "I was at a point where I would virtually discount what anyone was telling me about people relieving themselves." He said there are two portable toilet facilities at Bowden Field. "The coaches are told to inform the players to use the facilities and not the woods," he said, "and with the construction of the fences, the players should not go onto the abuttors' property."

Weaver said the two fields are able to accommodate 85 to 90 cars. "We know there's a parking problem. We're not fools," he said. "We did in fact hire a police officer. We know that the parking problem occurs because of the way that the league schedules. There's basically 15 minutes between games. You have four teams on the field, four teams arriving before the four teams can leave. Part of our original intent in the Site Plan Review was to allow for more time between games so that we could get those cars out of there before another game began."

Weaver also said he had no knowledge of any taunting. "I would not condone it," he said. "I know nothing of it. As far as I'm concerned, it's brought up now, in this forum, strictly to put us in as bad a light as possible and make us sound irresponsible."

Connor asked what he would do if it was true.

"I would absolutely go over and grab the kid," he said.

To the complaint of excessive use of the fields, Weaver said, "It snowed last winter. Weather service told me the first storm started November 19 and ended in April. The league season is scheduled to start April 4; it finally started April 18. For the two last dates there were 12 games scheduled that the league tells us must be played by May 27. There were 12 lost games that we had to get played. Those fields have already been heavy weekend use fields. We have, to a certain extent, absolutely no control over the scheduling. We turn those fields over to the league and they do the scheduling. There have always been a minimum of three games in each field every Sunday afternoon," he said.

With respect to noise, Weaver said, "Yes, people playing soccer and people watching do make noise. It was noisy in 1981 when we first built the field up; it was noisy in the fall of 1985 when the MacQueens purchased their property; it was noisy in the spring of 1988 when the Martinello's purchased their house. It's noisy today. I'm dumbfounded; I have no answer to that kind of complaint related to a playground," he said. "I just don't know what to do or what to say."

Weaver said he has been trying to acquire light visors which will deflect some of the light which shines directly into several abuttors' homes. He said he was willing to install additional poles with barriers to stop the lights from going directly on to the Martinello house. He said Mrs. Martinello said that suggestion was unacceptable, so he will not put the barriers up.

Mrs. Martinello later explained at the meeting that the barriers of which Weaver spoke were going to be large sheets of plywood which would have obstructed their view and been an eyesore.

D.A.R.E. teaches violence prevention; values and decision-making; alcohol, tobacco and other drug prevention skills; as well as refusal and resistance techniques.

Teacher and Staff Appreciation

MILLBURY - May 3rd was Teacher and Staff Appreciation Day in all of Millbury's public schools. The Millbury School Connection and the Millbury Parents Club co-sponsored this event to thank all who work with the community's school children.

Each teacher was given candy and fruit baskets, and pastry was provided for them in the lounges that day. Children in the elementary grade art classes made "thank you" cards that were displayed for all to enjoy.

The staff was recognized by the placement of a fruit basket in each cafeteria, and a plant was given to brighten each office.

The School Connection and the Parents Club said they are proud to support all the people who work diligently throughout the year to provide an excellent education for Millbury's students. Both organizations also thanked Darlene's Florist in Millbury, Millbury Towne Florist, Wheelabrator, and Shaw's Supermarket in Shrewsbury for their contributions.

Celebration of Life Walk

WORCESTER - A 6.2 mile "Celebration of Life Walk" to benefit the Leukemia Society of America will be held Sunday, June 13, beginning at 1 p.m. from Assumption College, 500 Salisbury Street. Funds raised will be used to support research. This event is sponsored by Teamsters Local 170.

Amorello honored as 'Friend of the Taxpayer'

BOSTON - State Senator Matthew J. Amorello (R-Grafton) has been designated a "Friend of the Taxpayer" by Citizens for Limited Taxation (CLT), in recognition of his pro-taxpayer record in the Massachusetts Senate.

"I am pleased and honored to be awarded this designation by CLT," said Amorello. "One of my main priorities as a Senator has been to ease the state's tax burden on the working families of Massachusetts. When you cut taxes, as we have done five times in the past two years, there is more money for consumers to spend and for businesses to invest."

All The News That Fits

By Lawrence Moore

Those not native New Yorkers or those who don't regularly read the New York Times may not be aware that for years the prestigious Wall Street Journal, at the top of its front page, proclaimed: "All The News That's Fit To Print."

It may correctly be held that only population center newspapers like the Boston Globe, The New York Times, the Washington Post and the Los Angeles Times, to name a few, have the circulation to attract enough advertising to allow them the luxury of large staffs and broad coverage of the news. The proliferation and competition of other news media, with their narrow emphasis and specialized appeal, has made the newspaper's lot an unhappy one.

Increasing costs, increasing ad rates and increasing prices have compounded the problem. Formerly reasonably informative papers have cut staffs, reduced editions, combined morning and evening editions, and, like other industries, have merged with competitors. Others have tried to emulate television in producing scandalous and sensational muck. Still others, like our Worcester paper, have relied extensively on wire services for other than local and regional coverage. In itself that might not be too bad, but we readers are at the mercy of editors who cull the wire reports, feature a few, shrink some, and capsulize others.

My interest in broad based news coverage was piqued by an editorial in the Wall Street Journal which quoted Lech Walesa, Poland's President and Freedom Fighter. During the Cold War, only Yugoslavia was not beamed to receive broadcasts of Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty. Walesa said "Perhaps if Radio Free Europe had broadcast all these years to Yugoslavia, we would not have bloodshed there today. Things would have been different."

Prompted by the paucity of news in Worcester, I scanned the Wall Street Journal for items relevant and important to all of us, but to which we were not exposed. Space permits only a partial list, and today's list is similar to every other day's list:

- The Armstrong asbestos class-action settlement will deny recourse to future victims of asbestos-related disease traceable to Armstrong.

- Car prices are just behind health care as a rising part of the consumer price index. Cheaper materials and productivity gains have gone to the UAW, many of whose benefits are indexed.

- A younger person might be better off financially self-insuring health care.

- The 71 Blue Cross/Blue Shield groups are roughly the fifth largest U.S. company, but they spend more in federal political contributions than General Motors, the largest company.

- Maine has a check-list for doctor's services, limiting liability-inspired procedures. In return doctor's liability exposure is reduced, as is cost to the consumer.

- Washington has a new health plan providing coverage for the state's 500,000 uninsured which incorporates managed care strategies including a cap on premiums. The insurance commissioner is empowered to investigate the administrative costs of BC/BS lobbying.

- The Resolution Trust Company is planning to sell another 23 S&Ls, bringing the total of failed thrifts to 677. Congress frees up another $16 billion to finance the thrift deposit insurance fund.

- South Korea looks to Europe for arms denied to it by the U.S., destabilizing Asia and hurting our defense contractors.

- The recommendations of seven out of 15 national brokerage houses failed to equal the S&P 500 index in the first quarter.

- Of the dozens of area conflicts raging, Bosnia has unquestionably the most serious potential for shattering the tenuous post-Cold War peace. A lead article and comments from local veterans do not begin to explain the ramifications of the problem. Multi-faceted reporting and divergent analytical commentary are vital to an understanding of the danger the world faces. In summary, most knowledgeable observers see Bosnia as an exponential variant to Vietnam and Lebanon combined. Is that your impression after reading the local news?

- Affecting Millbury, a jury rejected a couple's claim against the San Diego Gas and Electric company that power lines over their home caused their five year old to develop kidney tumors. The couple, Ted and Michele Zuidema, argued that the utility knew of potential health hazards from magnetic fields as early as 1986 but failed to warn customers. The jury's decision was based on the absence of "enough scientific data" AT THE TIME THE CHILD WAS BORN. The question of whether the power lines caused the cancer was never addressed.

Many Americans, conditioned to a scarcity of hard news, could care less. But what distinguishes us from many less-developed nations is our ability to comprehend what's going on in the world around us. Uninformed, our voices are unheard and decision makers are unchecked. Perhaps we don't "write or call our legislators" because we don't know what's going on. We won't, as long as some of our papers give us only "all the news that fits."

Volunteers needed to assist visually impaired

WORCESTER - The Massachusetts Association for the Blind (MAB) will hold an orientation program for volunteers on Wednesday, May 26, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at 51 Harvard Street.

An opportunity is available for someone to visit, chat and go for rides or walks with a visually impaired person in Sutton.

The orientation is open to anyone interested in learning about volunteer opportunities, common eye diseases, techniques to guide a person with vision loss and what to do when you meet a blind person. Pre-registration and an interview are required. For more information or to register, call the Massachusetts Association for the Blind.

MHS receives program from Millbury National Bank

MILLBURY - On May 17, Millbury National Bank presented Superintendent of Schools Richard Palermo with a program for Millbury High School juniors and seniors entitled, "Choices and Decisions." The program will enable students to learn how to deal with real-life decisions such as comparison shopping, budgeting, applying for a loan and managing a checking account.

School budgets have been shrinking in the 1990's. Now more than ever, students need outside assistance in developing the life skills necessary to function intelligently as workers and consumers. To help meet this need, Millbury National Bank has donated this complete learning module to Millbury High School to be used now and in the future, in order to better prepare students for the world they will face upon graduation.

In announcing the presentation, Bank officials said, "It is our way of giving back to the community we serve at Millbury National Bank."

Beacon Hill Roll Call

BOSTON - This week's "Beacon Hill Roll Call" records the votes of Senator Matthew Amorello (R-Grafton) and Representatives Richard Moore (D-Uxbridge) and Paul Kollios (D-Millbury) on roll calls from the weeks of May 10-21.

LOCKOUT (S 1523) - House 124-32, rejected Governor Weld's amendments to the bill giving unemployment benefits to workers locked out by employees during a labor dispute. Weld's amendments include one that would deny benefits if the employer can show that workers are interfering with the company's ability to provide public service or insure public safety. Amendment supporters said the amendment will protect the public and make this anti-business bill more reasonable and balanced. Amendment opponents, pointing to the Boston Gas dispute, said the amendments water down the bill which is designed to give security to workers and their families during lockouts. Moore and Kollios voted against Weld's amendment.

ABORTION (H 3239) House 83-72, approved an amendment to the recently passed bill allowing women to have abortions without restrictions in the first 24 weeks of pregnancy. Both the bill and the amendment allow abortions at any time to protect the life or health of the mother. The amendment, however, allows women to have abortions up to the time a fetus is determined viable, or 24 weeks - whichever comes first. It also allows the state to impose restrictions which are not unduly burdensome. Amendment supporters said the amendment simply codifies into state law the recent U.S. Supreme Court so-called Casey decision and retains the legislature's right to place restrictions on abortions. Amendment opponents said the amendment is anti-choice and waters down Roe v. Wade and the protection of a woman's right to an abortion. Moore voted for the amendment. Kollios voted against the amendment.

CHILD ABUSE (S 219) - House 99-56, rejected an amendment to a bill making child abuse a felony punishable by up to 20 years in prison. The amendment exempts parents who deny their children medical treatment because of the parents' religious beliefs. Amendment supporters said the amendment guarantees religious freedom for Christian Scientists and others. They noted the state already allows exemptions from vaccinations and immunizations. Amendment opponents said the state has a right and an obligation to step in when the life of a child is at stake. Moore and Kollios voted against the exemption.

CONSERVATION COMMISSION (H 2842) House 119-28, gave initial approval to a bill requiring each city or town to establish a wetlands protection fund and allowing local conservation commissions to spend the money in the fund without approval by the city council or town meeting. The measure requires written approval of the spending by the mayor, selectmen or town manager. Supporters said the bill gives conservation commissions more flexibility to act quickly. They pointed out that commissions often lose the opportunity to purchase and protect land because a town meeting

Tax Collector Marie Colacchio and Town Clerk David Matson both retired on May 21.

Cofske said he would take a vacation from his full time job to get a feel for the responsibilities of the position. He also noted that Colacchio indicated to him that her staff is very capable of doing the daily work required. Cofske said he expects to also put in some lunch time and weekends and nights to learn the operation, but would not want to do the job as acting tax collector for a long period of time.

The Board has discussed combining the job of Treasurer and Tax Collector.

Cofske said there can be more negatives than positives in combing the positions. He also said that in order to comply with the State Conflict of Interest Law, the Board would have to appoint him a Special Employee as tax collector so he could be paid from that position's budget for the temporary period.

The Board appointed Cofske on a 5-0 vote to be the acting tax collector. It also voted 5-0 to make him a special municipal employee, but deferred voting compensation until Cofske has a chance to consider what compensation he would consider appropriate.

The Board voted to place an ad in major newspapers to seek applicants for the position of Administrative Assistant to replace Earl Chase who officially retired May 21st. The Board voted to keep Chase on during the transition period and pay him on a pro rated basis based on his present salary.

Chase said he would work four days a week until July and then gradually reduce his hours.

The Board held off advertising for members for a search committee to replace Chase, but expect to have a replacement by September. Cristo said he contacted two former town officials who have expressed an interest in being on the search committee: Jack Donnely and Dave Matson. Lachance and Selectman Bernard Plante both indicated they would like to talk to some people before recommending anyone.

Rumors?

Lachance then asked his colleagues to clear the air about rumors that have been circulating that some members of the Board of Selectmen are interested in the positions.

Cristo said at one time he was thinking of the town clerk's position and the tax collector's position but is not at this time. He did say that if a special election comes up he may change his mind.

Lachance said it was good to clear the air on this and asked Bleau if he would like to say whether he has any interest in a position.

"I have no comment," Bleau replied.

Gauthier said he would stay where he is until his present term ends in two years, at which time he does not plan to seek reelection.

Miscellaneous

- The Board voted 5-0 to replace Laura Turgeon on the Board of Registrars, at her request. Jerilyn Stead will replace her.

- The Board received a letter from Ronald Lapworth, owner of the SUBWAY Shop on Canal Street, asking them to seek a delay from the Mass. Highway Department in closing down Canal Street for bridge work. The work is slated to be done in front of his store which only recently opened for business.

The Board is seeking a delay from the Mass. Highway Department since the work would adversely affect businesses in the area if the road, as scheduled, is closed down for six months.

- Randy Lennox, owner and manager of the Wheels Skating arena on Howe Ave, was present to ask for a license to hold a teen dance club on Wednesday and Sunday nights. Lennox would need two separate licenses for the Sunday entertainment by-law: one for music and the other for dancing. The Board voted unanimously to grant the licenses.

is not scheduled to authorize the purchase. Opponents said the bill puts too much spending authority into the hands of a small group of non-elected officials and takes power away from town meetings and elected city councils. Moore and Kollios voted for the bill.

MTV (H 292) House 119-25, rejected a bill prohibiting the inclusion of MTV in basic cable TV service. Supporters said MTV promotes excessive violence and uses women as sexual objects. They argued MTV should become a premium option so that parents will have the choice of whether to purchase it. Opponents said this type of regulation is determined by Congress. They argued the ban borders on censorship and noted most subscribers will not be eager to pay for a service which is currently included in the basic package. Moore voted in favor of including MTV in basic cable and Kollios voted against its inclusion.

The following five bills recently received initial approval in the House and need another affirmative vote in that branch before they are sent to the Senate for action. All five bills were okayed on a voice vote, without a roll call, and could resurface again soon for further House action.

ORGAN DONOR (H 3377) This bill requires health insurance forms to include a question asking the insured whether he or she is willing to donate any organs for medical science or a transplant operation.

GAY STUDENTS (H 3353) A bill sponsored by 33 legislators and the Governor's Commission on Gay and Lesbian Youth would prohibit discrimination against students in public schools on the basis of sexual orientation.

SHOPPING CARTS (H 1616) This measure requires supermarkets and retail stores to provide child safety restraints in any shopping carts used by customers with young children.

SEX OFFENDERS (H 1137) The Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association's bill would require that local chiefs of police be notified in writing of any sex offenders being paroled into the child's local city or town.

NATIVE AMERICAN DAY (H 402) This bill proclaims the third Friday of each September as "Native American Day" and requires that the governor recommend the day be observed by Massachusetts citizens in an appropriate manner.

THE SENATE

EDUCATION REFORM - Senate 25-13, refused to suspend rules to allow immediate consideration of resolutions urging the conference committee working on the education reform bill to send to the legislature the parts of the bill upon which the committee agrees. The bill has been in conference committee for several weeks. Resolution supporters said the school choice issue is holding up the entire bill. They argued that other reform and funding measures should be brought to the floor for a vote so communities will have local aid figures on which to base their budgets. Opponents said all remaining issues are on the verge of being resolved. They argued that interfering with a conference committee's deliberations sets a bad precedent. Amorello voted against immediate consideration of the resolutions.

RIVERS (S 1565) Senate 36-3, gave near final approval and sent to the House the bill restricting development along riverfront property and generally banning development within 150 feet of the state's rivers and streams. Supporters said this long overdue bill will protect the state's rivers and streams from the pollution of road salt, fertilizers and pesticides. They noted it will also protect 70% of the endangered species that depend on clean water. Opponents offered no arguments, but the measure still faces opposition from the farming and real estate industry. Amorello voted for the bill.

COMING UP ON BEACON HILL

Following is a list of some of the upcoming legislation to be acted upon by the House and Senate. If you would like to urge your elected officials to argue in favor of or in opposition to any legislation, they may be contacted as follows:

Senator Matthew Amorello, Room 314, State House, Boston, MA 02133-1053 (Tel: 617-722-1485); Representative Richard Moore, Room 26, State House, Boston, MA 02133 (tel: 617-722-2080); Representative Paul Kollios, Room 22, State House, Boston, MA 02133 (Tel: 617-722-2140).

The House and Senate met briefly in a Constitutional Convention on May 19 and quickly recessed until June 9 at 2 p.m. The convention took no action on the ten proposed constitutional amendments on this year's calendar. Only 10 of the many amendments filed this year were placed on the calendar by the May 12 deadline. Under the constitution, the grad tax proposal which is an initiative petition needs 50 votes while all others need 101 votes. Here are five of the 10 proposals which have been placed on this year's agenda:

GRAD TAX (H 4001 of 1992) First on the agenda is an initiative petition imposing a graduated income tax in Massachusetts. The proposal has already been approved by last year's legislature 132-39. It needs only 50 votes by the 1993-1994 session in order to go on the ballot in 1994.

PRIVATE SCHOOLS (S 48 of 1992) The second item scheduled is Senate President William Bulger's proposal which he says eliminates anti-Catholic language from the constitution. Opponents charge the amendment allows state aid to private schools and will take money away from public schools which are already struggling. The amendment barely received the 101 votes required under the constitution at last year's session. It needs 101 votes either this year or next in order to go on the ballot in 1994.

INCREASE TERMS (H 289) While term limits does not appear on this year's agenda, this amendment would increase the current two year terms of state senators and representatives to four year terms beginning in 1998.

INCREASE SENATE (H 1325) This amendment would increase the size of the Massachusetts state senate from 40 to 56 members.

ENGLISH (H 4287) This proposal would repeal the current constitutional requirement that a person be able to read English and write his or her name in order to vote in any elections.

From My Window on Farnsworth Court

By "Pastor Rae" Cameron

Congratulations to this year's graduates. The one that I know from Millbury High is Stephen Haglund; how to go Stephen. There is also his sister, Melissa Haglund, who is graduating from Clark University, Phi Beta Kappa, with high honors in chemistry. She plans to go on to the University of Chicago and pursue a career in medicine. Kathy Archambeault, head of the Science Department at Millbury High School, will be honored with an Outstanding Secondary Educators award from Clark University. She was nominated for this award by Melissa.

There is Kim Rice who graduated from Becker College with an Associate of Science Degree in Computers with high honors and a 4.0 average. She plans to go to Quinsigamond Community College for Criminal Justice.

Peter Nikolajevs graduated from Quinsigamond Community College with an Associate Degree in Automobile Science, with the Ford Asset Program. He was the number one automobile mechanic student for Massachusetts and went on to a national competition in this field. A Ford man all the way, he hopes one day to work for Ford out in Michigan.

Brian Eilert graduated from Quinsigamond with a Certificate towards a nursing degree. He, too, received High Honors with a 3.8 average.

These are but a few of those whom I know, but they all speak well of our educational system here in Millbury. All of our teachers are outstanding, and we bring honor to all of them. May God richly bless each and every one of you. Amen.

Sutton teacher receives award

SUTTON - Beverly Shaw Johnson, a member of the English Department at Sutton Memorial Jr.-Sr. High School, has received a Golden Gift Fund Award from the Delta Kappa Gamma Society International to attend the Society's 1993 Leadership/Management Seminar June 27 through July 9 in Texas.

The intensive two-week seminar will be held at the Center for Management Development Programs, Graduate School of Business, at the University of Texas in Austin. Since 1980, the Delta Kappa Gamma Society, an international honor society for women educators, with over 169,000 members in 14 counties, has funded 360 members in this program. Thirty women, including Johnson, were chosen to participate in the 1993 Seminar.

An active participant in the Delta Kappa Gamma Society International since 1977, Johnson served as President of the Alpha Upsilon, Massachusetts state organization of the Society from 1989 to 1991. During that time, she was also a member of the Society's Executive Board. Currently, she chairs the Alpha Upsilon, Massachusetts State Literacy Council which coordinates the literacy efforts of over 2,000 Massachusetts members in 36 state chapters. This statewide network is called Project A.P.R.I.L.: Advancing Parent Roles in Literacy.

Millbury students excel at Special Olympics

MILLBURY - For the last 21 years, students in the Millbury School system have participated in track and field activities at the Special Olympics. The site of this year's competition was Bellingham High School with the event sponsored by the Bellingham Lions Club.

The students, all from the Shaw Elementary School, were from Barbara Johnson's Resource Room class and included the following students: Aaron Agusto, Ashley Berardi, Matt Cicero, Cheryl Desimone, Julie Doyle, Karla Grudinsky and Christie Pooler. All seven, under the supervision of there Adaptive Physical Education Teacher, Tim Kerins, participated in the following events: 25 yard dash, 50 yard dash, 100 yard dash, frisbee throw, standing long jump and the softball throw. Each student was one of the top winners in their age group, earning the maximum number of points. Each received a medal. In addition, the athletes received free "T" shirts, a free cookout and lots of love from the volunteers supervising the events.

The students would like to thank the Bellingham Lions, the Director of Special Services, Paul J. Primavera, the Bellingham School System, volunteers and especially their parents for supporting them.

Pack 109 Summer News

The Lions Club has asked for Pack 109's help in carrying banners in the Independence Day Parade on June 27. Scouts who wish to help should contact their den leaders for details.

Spree Day will be held, weather permitting, on Sunday, August 29, from 1-3 at the Elmwood St. School. Spree Day is open to all scouts and their families as well as to new boys who may want to enter scouting in September. Join the fun, and bring a friend.

Janet Clawson named Director

MILLBURY - Janet Clawson, R.N. has been appointed Director of the District Nursing Society (D.N.S.) Adult Day Health Care Center, 450 Colonial Drive. D.N.S. is an affiliate of the St. Vincent Healthcare System.

Clawson has 20 years of varied nursing experience. She has served for the past two years as part-time staff nurse at the Center. A graduate of the Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, she also earned a Certificate of Health Studies from Anna Maria College. She also worked as a home health nurse, as a hospital coordinator of discharge planning and as a hospital staff nurse.

Seek to expand Bottle Bill

BOSTON - MASSPIRG has called for the passage of legislation to expand the Bottle bill to cover juice, wine coolers, mixed spirit drinks, wine, alcohol, iced tea and bottled water. A grassroots campaign in support of the proposal is underway.

MASSPIRG's citizen outreach staff will contact thousands of people statewide over the next month, urging them to lobby their state Senators about the bills in order to win majority support in the Senate. Senator Matthew Amorello (R-Grafton) has already announced his support. The chief sponsors of the legislation are Senator Lois Pines (Newton) and Representative Warren Tolman (Watertown).

Sports Physical

MILLBURY - Any student who plans to play sports at Millbury Memorial Jr./Sr. High School for the 1993-94 school year can receive a free physical exam sponsored by the school department. Forms must be picked up at the nurses's station before the exam, filled out and returned to the school. The dates are as follows: boys, Tuesday, June 1; girls, Thursday, June 3.

This will be the only free physical available. If you don't take advantage of this program, you will have to make an appointment with your own physician; this could take a few months, and you would not be eligible to play fall sports.

She also said the barriers would have solved her problem but would not have addressed the problems which affect her neighbors.

Weaver responded, "I now believe the major reason for the continuous string of complaints and the ever expanding types of complaints is to create a record for the police department and the selectmen regardless of whether the complaints are based on fact or not. I believe the true intent is to imply that the Soccer Club is totally irresponsible and unresponsive and to intimidate town officials into curtailing our use of the property at all times." He added that the club will never be able to satisfy the residents until it curtails use of the field.

Weaver concluded saying that all of the steps the Club has taken have been done voluntarily without request from the Planning Board or the Selectmen and "beyond that," he said, "I volunteer nothing."

Anthony Martinello responded that the abuttors were never under the impression that the game of soccer would be quiet and said the abuttors expect the players to make noise and the crowds to cheer. "We don't want the noise after it gets dark," he said. "We object to the long hours that go into the night." Martinello also said that members of the Soccer Club are angry and do not vent their anger in the gentlemanly manner that Weaver does. "There is so much animosity between us and them that it's going to take a long time to heal," he said.

Mrs. Martinello explained that soccer games have been held at the field since they moved in in 1988, but there were no complaints by neighbors until the lights were installed and extended play began on both fields. She said it is unfair to ask the neighbors to endure 20 hours of soccer from early morning to after dark.

Connor asked what the selectmen could do.

Martinello asked for a limit on the hours of play so that the abuttors can have the use of their property as well.

Connor noted that the problem is not a policy issue but a zoning issue.

Miscellaneous

- Recreation Commissioner Harvey Bileau said $9,600 is available in the budget to fund the summer swim program and the four week recreation program at Camp Marion. However, severe tree damage from winter storms has made the area unsafe. Bileau described broken trees that must be removed before the programs can get underway. He also suggested that a professional forester survey the area to plot future work.

- Town Administrator Dexter Blois said he would soon be meeting with representatives from Grafton and Millbury to discuss two ambulance contract proposals. The Sutton board has made it known that it is unhappy with the time it takes for a Himmer ambulance to reach Sutton, particularly when the primary response ambulance, housed in Millbury, is out on a call and the back-up ambulance must respond from Worcester.

- Gvazdauskas, commenting on a weekly list of activities submitted by Blois, asked that Blois include on that list any complaints that may have been registered with him during the week. He gave as an example a taxpayer's complaint that he could not buy a permit at the Board of Health office because it was closed for three days. Gvazdauskas said he wanted that taxpayer to know that his complaint was being recognized.

- Blois said Police Chief John Annis has responded to complaints of parking along Fuller Road during soccer games. He said Annis feels there should not be any parking on that road because it is only 22 feet wide. Accordingly, if cars are parked off the road, they are parking on residents' lawns; if they park along both sides of the street, they reduce the roadway from 22 feet to eight to 10 feet.

Blois said part of the problem was caused by the weather which was exceptionally wet this spring. As a result, parents could not park in the parking lot because of the mud.

Ross Weaver, a representative of the Sutton Soccer Club, said he would recommend that "No Parking" signs be placed along the roads. He said the field off of Fuller Road was only used for practice, and it was not necessary that parents park and watch a practice.

Gravison moved that "No Parking" signs be put up.

Connor suggested that a public hearing be held with the neighbors to discuss the proposal before the board takes any action.

Johnson said that placing signs along that road could cause a problem for residents who may have an infrequent party and be unable to provide parking for all of their guests.

The board will inform residents of a public hearing on the proposal and invite their input.

- The board unanimously granted approval to Martin Linder to remove three parcels of land from Chapter 61A. The parcels are a five acre tract, a seven acre tract, and a road right-of-way. Linder indicated that the Conservation Commission, the Planning Board, the Assessors, and the Selectmen were notified to allow for the Town to exercise its option to purchase the land.

The DEADLINE for all submissions to the Millbury-Sutton Chronicle is Saturday of the week prior to publication. The office is closed to the public on Saturdays but announcements may be left in the mailbox at the side entrance superintendent walked by, saw her working, and said, "You like school, don't you?"

Several months ago at the suggestion of McBride, Orrie and her sisters agreed that she would go to the DNS Adult Day Health Care Center two days a week. Arrangements were made for the nurse to be with her a few hours on her first day at the Center to allay her fears and help her adjust to the new environment. The Sutton Council on Aging provided transportation to the Center.

Orrie calls the Adult Day Health Care Center "The Care Place." When asked what she likes about the Center, she says she likes the food and games, such as Bingo and a new softball game. She also participates in the exercise program.

Jo Wilczynski, a Hearing Specialist and volunteer at the Center, has been teaching Orrie and Center staff members sign language to help them communicate more easily. Also, Adult Day Health Care Director Janet Clawson and Social Worker Lisa Bennes have arranged for an expensive donated hearing aid to be adapted for Orrie's use.

Orrie's birthday was a special day at the Center recently. She wrote in her daily log that at about "1:00 P.M., two girls brought birthday cards, cake and ice cream." Orrie's sisters came that afternoon to help Orrie celebrate.

Orrie speaks fondly of her friend Lucy Capomacchio at "The Care Place" who was chosen to be the bride in a mock wedding recently. Lucy chose Orrie to be her Maid of Honor.

Orrie Coombs' life has changed over the past year. She is like a flower bud slowly blooming. DNS visiting staff members and Adult Day Health Care Center staff members have made the difference.

Me, a Poet?

By E. Swenson

I am a poet, people say
But that's not really true
For I just take dictation Lord
the words all come from you.

I lay awake some sleepless nights
It is then I seem to sense
You've a gift to give to someone
Thru me the words dispense.

The words just seem to travel
From your heart into mine
Somehow they just keep flowing
And they all come forth in rhyme.

But the gift must have a sender
To give that gift away
So I get the poem ready
For the one you've chosen today.

I thank you for each poem I send
To give some soul a lift
And thank you lord for using me
To send them such a gift.

Last week's report on the Sutton School Committee incorrectly identified Neil Newton as the new Vice Chairman of the Committee. Victor Kourey was named Vice Chairman.
